The Tulsa Police Department recognizes the unpleasantness of being a victim of a crime. The department also realizes it can be confusing when a citizen is given a report number either by completing a report on line or with an officer. Often the citizen wonders, "What happens next?"

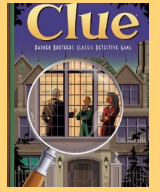

Citizens will now be able to email the detectives assigned to their case. From the Department's home page, tulsapolice.org, citizens will select the Detective Division and that screen will allow the citizen to select the squad investigating their case. When the squad is selected an email will be generated allowing the citizen to ask a question about their case, provide additional information, or leave a tip on another crime. The email will be routed through a supervisor to the detective assigned the case.

If the citizen does not know their case number they will still be able to send an email to the supervisor who will determine which detective is assigned the case. The detective assigned to your case will then answer your email directly and in a timely manner.

By creating this avenue of communication between the citizen and the detective the police department is hoping for a better customer friendly atmosphere for our citizens.

FROM THE CRIME ANALYST'S DESK...

HOMICIDES

Unfortunately, there was a double homicide at 648 E. 53rd Street North on 07/10/2011. The motive is still unknown.

ROBBERIES

At 1532 E. Archer Street, the victim was winning at dice and the losers didn't appreciate it so they took their money back.

At 1432 S. Peoria, the Whataburger was reportedly robbed, and the suspect was captured.

At 408 E. 8th Street, two black males in their twenties walked into the victim's business and attempted to rob him. One suspect put a knife to victim's back and demanded money. The victim turned and struck the second suspect in the jaw, knocking the suspect to the ground. The suspects ran away.

At 415 E. Pine Street, the crime was reported erroneously as robbery when it was actually an Unauthorized Use of a Motor Vehicle and the suspect was captured.

BURGLARIES

Baker and Charlie Squad didn't have many burglaries reported this week. In all squads, day time continues to be the prime time for occurrences and electronics are the preferred choice of loot, i.e., TVs and gaming machines. There was a grouping of six in the area of 300 E 27th (Adam squad) that are being looked at.

AUTO THEFTS

Three Chevy pickups were the vehicle theft of choice this week, with Buicks coming in as a close second, with two taken. The thefts were spread out over the entire division.
